WILD WITH ECZEMA

And Other Itching, Burning, Scaly Eruptions with Loss of Hair.

Speedy Cure Treatment.

Bathe the affected parts with Hot Water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and lastly take Cuticura Resolvent Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, pimply humours, eczemas, rashes, irritations, and chafings, with loss of hair, when all else fails.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and the anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, better, and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. Such are the CUTICURA remedies; the purest, sweetest, most speedy and economical curatives for the skin, scalp, and blood ever compounded. Mothers are their warmest friends.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap

Assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes and chafings, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and inflammations of women, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for alleviating weaknesses, and many sensitive, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT PILLS (Chocolate Coated) are a new, delicate, and powerful blood purifier, recommended by the celebrated Dr. J. C. Watson, as well as for all other blood purifiers and humours. Put up in seven- and ten-day packets, containing 10 doses.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Australian Depot: H. Towns & Co., Sydney. British Depot: J. C. Watson & Co., London. French Depot: Rue de la Paix, Paris. Export Depot: J. C. Watson & Co., London.

LORD LONSDALE'S CHINA TOUR.

Some of His Impressions.

On October 26 the Earl of Lonsdale reached London after his tour round the world. The following are some of his impressions of Far Eastern affairs which he gave to an interviewer:—

"In China we spent a specially enjoyable time, and there we were indebted both to the Emperor of China and the Empress, who did everything in their power to give us facilities for forming a true opinion of the country. For instance, we were given the opportunity of inspecting the great Chinese army, trained inland, and in hereto, I believe, unseen by any Englishman."

Lord Lonsdale, an Honorary Colonel of the 1st Cumberland Volunteer Artillery, Colonel of the Westmorland and Cumberland Imperial Yeomanry, and with experience in South Africa as Assistant Adjutant-General, is competent to judge of the military efficiency, and I ventured to ask his opinion of the Chinese soldiers.

"They are in many respects remarkably efficient," he replied. "Their drill is obviously founded almost entirely on the German drill of 1895. Their instructors are mostly German sergeants, and all their individual movements are almost perfect. There is not, however, the same precision in field movements. We were present on a big field day when the attack was practised. Then it was noticeable that the full intention of the authors of the drill of 1895 had not been grasped. The preservation of the stipulated distances and the individual duties of skirmishing section leaders was not fully understood, or at least carried out. Nevertheless the movements as a whole were well done, and the impression created by this little known army was a most favourable one."

"And what of the average Chinaman?" "Oh, my opinion of the ordinary Chinaman is a very high one. The Chinese, speaking generally, are I believe, the most civilized of all nations. They are often spoken of as a treacherous and turbulent folk. In fact they are about the most law-abiding people on the face of the earth. Their punishments are severe, and an air of force which would attract little notice here is followed there by the degradation of the offender. As a consequence a good deal is heard of the matter. But these offences seldom occur."

"But there are frequent insurrections." "Neither so frequent nor so serious as is represented. My firm conviction is that in this matter there have been great exaggerations. The Emperor gave us facilities for seeing all the great cities, including Peking, and the most exclusive parts of them. We met almost numberless Chinese officials and men of position, and no people could have been more courteous and obliging. The difficulty which formerly existed owing to differences of opinion between the Emperor and the Empress is now removed, thanks chiefly to Prince Tuan, whom I regard as a very clever and shrewd man. There are great possibilities for trade in China, as the Russians have realised. They are firmly fixed in Manchuria, and evidently do not mean to move."

"And is your opinion of Japan as favourable?"

"On the contrary, Japan gave me the greatest disappointment of the journey. I went there expecting to find an increasing, developing, and progressive people, an artistic and original people. I found nothing of the kind. The population is increasing in numbers it is true. The nation is progressive and developing too in the sense that it is wonderfully imitative of all Western practices and ideas. The Japs, indeed, are probably the most imitative people in the world. But they have no originality. They see a good thing, and at once adopt it, but they have no original ideas. You may search their works of art, pictures, porcelain, textile manufactures, and embroideries, but you find nothing new. They have grown somewhat arrogant, too. Since they were recognized as one of the Powers of the world their treatment of the European has by no means improved. He certainly does not always get his own from the Japanese law courts. I shall not be surprised to hear some day that a white man has been knocked down and robbed in one of the towns, and then himself punished or fined for having the money about him. Nor has the Japanese merchant so high a reputation for honesty and integrity as the Chinese trader, whose word is always his bond."

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1903.

The report on the Foreign trade of China in 1902, by Mr J. W. Jamieson, the British Commercial Attaché, provides a sample food for thought to those who study China's trade and its possible development. One section of the report deals with the currency question. As the decision of the Colonial Office arrived at on the advice of Sir Henry Blake, advised in his turn by the minority of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce—irrevocably links Hongkong to China in currency matters, it may interest the people of Hongkong to know Mr Jamieson's opinion of the prospects of currency reform in China. Notwithstanding the fact that three of her most important adjacent constituents—Japan, the Straits Settlements, and the Philippine Islands (and Mr Jamieson might have added Siam)—have 'gone gold,' he is of opinion that 'so long as China does not possess an Imperial silver coin—to which copper cash shall bear a fixed relation—actually current amongst and accepted by all who own allegiance to the Emperor, to discuss the possibility of establishing a gold standard or of building up a gold reserve is absolutely futile.' In this respect, Mr Jamieson sets himself in opposition to the 'self-constituted mentors at the Open Ports,' whose range of vision, he says, is apt to be limited. Time will show whether Mr Jamieson or these Open Port critics are right; but, for our own part, we are not prepared to accept the dictum of any Commercial Attaché who writes:—'An additional reason for depreciating undue haste—we presume he means in the efforts to encompass a stable ratio of exchange—lies in the fact that, at the moment of writing, the shadow of the silver bogey appears to be on the wane. Exchange has risen and is steady, and with the element of instability removed the apprehensions of the foreign merchant, who feels that he is living in a country economically doomed, should be allayed. Foreign capital can still find remunerative investment, and should the present upward tendency of local stocks be maintained it can always be withdrawn—its value enhanced by the relatively high rates of interest earned. It may, in conclusion, be noted that the economic position of China is being improved by the spread of Western education and a markedly increasing demand for foreign literature.' The Attaché who writes thus of a question like the relation of gold and silver currencies has no excuse for accusing the commercial men of the Open Ports of limited vision, for no one but an opportunist of the worst type would so dogmatise on a temporary rise in exchange. His own limited vision is obvious. He ignores the economic results achieved in India and Japan, and the benefit the Philippines are already experiencing from the adoption of the gold standard. He ignores Sir Robert Hart's proposals for the introduction of a gold standard into China, and dismisses the views of those who are pleased to dub 'doctrinaires' by saying: 'The only remedy that suggests itself [to alleviate China of the burden of her gold debt] is the introduction of a gold standard, but no body knows exactly how this can be done, and in the multitude of their counsellors it is to be feared they find little wisdom.' Perhaps the American Commissioners now on their way to Peking will shed a ray of light on Mr Jamieson's currency path. Of course, it must necessarily be a difficult matter, as he says, 'to legislate for a country whose media of exchange form a heterogeneous conglomeration of units ranging from sterling drafts on the eastern coast to empty bottles on the south-western hills.' Here, unconsciously, Mr Jamieson gives us in Hongkong some idea of 'the media of exchange' with which Hongkong is to be associated indissolubly. It would be a reductio ad absurdum to ask the Chief

Manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to give a daily quotation between sterling currency and empty bottles; but those who argue that Hongkong's currency must continue to be expressed in silver because the currency of China is silver will be interested to learn from Mr Jamieson that: 'The real current coins of the realm are copper cash. They constitute the popular measure of value for wages, for the price of native produce, the cost of foreign commodities—in fact, for everything, and, expressed in silver, they have year by year been depreciating everywhere in China.' We know that Mr Jamieson's statement is correct in this particular, and so we arrive at the argument that 'Hongkong must remain silver because China is copper.' The currency of Hongkong must continue to be silver because China pays for her native produce and buys foreign commodities in copper. It is for this reason that Mr Jamieson advocates the introduction of a uniform national silver currency for China, and after this is accomplished, he thinks 'reformers'—the word is evidently intended to mean 'the advocates of a gold standard'—will then have 'a tangible entity' wherewith to deal. In other words, instead of attempting to make one sweeping reform, which would not only benefit her trade but help her in the payment of her indemnities, Mr Jamieson favours two separate reforms, the first, so far as we can see, in no way helping China out of her difficulties, and postponing indefinitely the only change that would really benefit her and her trade with foreign countries, on which, for many years, she has had to rely for her most substantial financial securities. We need scarcely add that we do not agree with Mr Jamieson. It is Hongkong's interest to secure stability for her currency, and no comparison with fluctuating securities dependent on extraneous influences for dividend-paying power and relative value, or references to temporary rises in exchange, will convince any thoughtful man that the present system is the best, or that the foreigners in the Treaty Ports should cease their agitation for the establishment of a gold standard in China. If Hongkong cannot have a currency existence separate from China, Hongkong's past experience of exchange fluctuations and consequent trade depression must impel her to join in the agitation for a gold standard in China when currency reform is attempted.

Russians in Action with Bandits.
The Kobe Herald publishes the following:—Peking, November 29.—The telegraph lines in Manchuria have now been seized by Russian officers and the Chinese authorities are now conveying messages between Inkao and Mouliden by carriers. The Tartar General reports that about 100 Russians engaged a number of rioters at Shinmien on the 16th inst., and seven or eight of the Russians were killed. The Tartar General reported later that the rioters of Shinmien were the mounted bandits. Over forty Russians were killed. The bandits lost much less in the fighting. Several Japanese were with the bandits and repulsed the Russians, who marauded the neighbourhood. The Tartar General reported under date of the 18th that the Russians have now driven the bandits from Shinmien and fighting is going on in the district about Chao-yang. The Russians are plundering the Chinese houses in the district.

The Disturbances at Chemulpo.
The following official report of a meeting of the Council of Chemulpo Foreign Settlement has been received by the Government at Tokyo: On Nov. 14 a conference of the Foreign Settlement Council was held for consideration of the steps to be taken for the policing of the Settlement and the prevention of such outbreaks as that which recently occurred between Russian sailors and Japanese residents at Chemulpo. At the Council, the Russian Vice-Consul dwelt upon the weakness of the police force in the Settlement, and moved that the force be increased. The Council recommended that a European superintendent with police be appointed. The Council decided that two Europeans should be added to the police force, but the suggestion regarding a superintendent was rejected. A resolution was passed to the effect that the Foreign Ministers at St. Petersburg should be requested to commanders of foreign war-ships visiting Chemulpo to place sailors going ashore in charge of officers.

What it will do.
Pain Balm heals bruises, burns, and scalds in less time than any other treatment. It is 'antiseptic,' that is, it prevents putrefaction, and by so doing generally prevents an unsightly sore resulting from the injury being healed. For lame back, lumbago, and neuralgia, Pain Balm has no equal. It has the quality of 'getting to the right spot.' No suffering from these distressing afflictions should deter a trial of this remedy. This application gives relief. Try it. For sale by all chemists and medicine vendors; WATKINS & CO., Ltd., General Agents.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.Taikoo Annual Sports.

The annual Taikoo Sports will be held on January 1, and arrangements are already in hand to bring about a successful meeting. An advertisement in this issue announces the cycling track will be open for training from 1st December next.

Hongkong Christian Union.

Monday being observed by many as a day of intercession for foreign missions, the meeting on Monday evening will be devoted to that subject. The Rev. T. W. Pearce will preside, and the meeting will be held at 5.15 in the room of the Union, Beaconfield Arcade. All are cordially invited.

The 'Salamanca' under Arrest.

The S.S. Salamanca, owned by the Lombard Steamship Company, Ltd., No. 23, Great St. Helens, London, has been placed under arrest at the instigation of Messrs. Carlowitz and Co. The claim is one for $12,000, being charter money overpaid. It appears that in July 1902, the Salamanca was stranded in the Philippines, and Messrs. Carlowitz and Co. paid charter money for the month of September, for which, they allege, they were not indebted to the owners of the ship. This money should have been repaid to Messrs. Carlowitz and Co., but as it was not proceedings have been instituted. The defendants have three months in which to put in an appearance to defend the action, so that unless they appear before, or deposit security for the steamer, who will remain in custody until February 24, 1904.

The Occupation of Mukden.

According to the Kobe Herald Peking correspondent the Russian Government have made an announcement in St. Petersburg to the effect that the Russian authorities in the Far East have not destroyed the administration of Shinkiang Province, Manchuria. They add:—The reoccupation of the city of Mukden by Russia was compulsory, and she had to station two Companies of Infantry and a Company of Archers there. Therefore the reoccupation of Mukden could not be called an actual occupation of the city. Russia had already showed to the Powers that she has no intention of taking possession of Manchuria permanently. However, as the situation has now reached such a stage, the future measures to be taken by Russia will depend upon the measures adopted by the Powers in regard to the situation in Manchuria.

The Obedient Typist.

The chief was cross that morning and was venting his wrath on the pretty young lady who manipulated the type-writer. 'Everything is in confusion on my desk,' he said testily. 'It always is.' 'You insist that you don't want anything disturbed there,' she responded meekly. 'Well, I don't want papers disturbed, but I don't want this sheet of postage-stamps left there.' 'Where shall I put them?' she inquired demurely as she took them up. 'Don't ask so many questions,' he snapped. 'Put them anywhere out of my sight.'

'Very well, Sir,' she cooed as softly as a dove. And licking them with her pretty red tongue she stuck the sheet on his bald head and walked out to seek a new situation.

Promoting Trade with N. S. Wales.

Mr John Bligh Sutor, who has been appointed Commercial Agent in the East for the Government of New South Wales, has been in Manila for several days overlooking the commercial field and the possibilities of trade between the Philippines and the Commonwealth of Australia, says the Manila Times. Mr Sutor comes from one of the earliest families of Australia, the first gold discovered in the country being found on the farm of his grandfather. Mr Sutor is an enthusiastic Australian, and a firm believer in the future greatness of the country and the possibility of profitable trade relations being established with the Philippine Islands. Possessing a pleasing personality, besides being a good shot, a clever horseman and enthusiastic in all things Australian, Mr Sutor seems to be the one man who could be looked upon to succeed in the difficult mission he has been selected for as the advance agent of Australian trade with the Far East. Mr Sutor will shortly be in Hongkong.

Peace of Humiliation.

The members of the Taio Doshi Kai have decided to commence a vigorous campaign against the Government should the next meeting between Bar'n Komura and Baron Rosen prove abortive and the negotiation be indefinitely protracted. They claim that should silence still be maintained, it may be taken that the Government is content with the peace of humiliation. The members consider it surprising that the great parties of the Constitutional Association and the Progressists are apparently so unconcerned in regard to the all-important Manchuria question. They express particular wonderment at the fact that the Progressists, who have made a 'strong policy in foreign affairs' their platform for so long, should show such indifference in the present occasion. It is stated that the Progressist party has resolved to practically ignore the Manchuria question during the coming Session of the Diet, and to take up 'the solemn manufacture of munitions and the question of the abolition of certain pre-fectural governments as their chief line of attack.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.Mortality in August.

During August there were 495 deaths in the Colony, 26 being in the European community.

Assistant Superintendent of Police.

His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government has appointed Edward D. C. Wolfe to act as Assistant Superintendent of Police and as Police Magistrate for the new Territories, with effect on and from December 1.

Not Saratoff.

A despatch from Constantinople to the New Free Press says that Hilmi Pasha, the Turkish Inspector General, has telegraphed from Nicosia that the insurgent leader who was killed in a recent fight was Stephen Petroff, and not Boris Saratoff, the chairman of Macedonian Revolutionary Committee, as stated.

Chinese for the Straits.

A correspondent writes to the Singapore Free Press to say that the unnamed 'representative of the Straits' alluded to by a Canton Correspondent of the China Mail, as recruiting Chinese agricultural settlers, is the Revd. Dr. Luning, who, however, in no sense is a representative of the Straits Government, but is alleged to be acting with the sanction of the Perak Government.

A Marine Case.

At the Marine Court before Mr B. A. Taylor, Acting Marine Magistrate, this morning, Ng Yau, the master of the steam launch Cheong Yick was fined $5 or fourteen days imprisonment for failing to observe the rule of the road. Lieut. C. Asser, of H.M.S. Fine, said that he was coming up the central fairway on Nov. 24, and when off Illako Pier he saw a steam launch steering a tight hand course on the port-bow. The steam launch made no attempt to slow down, consequently witness had to go full speed astern. As it was, they went very close together, so close that the Chinese on board the launch had commenced to take their coats off. Defendant said that he could not see the Fine, owing to being covered by other steamers.

The Opening of Yong-Am-Pho.

The repeated efforts of the British and Japanese Ministers in favour of the opening of Yong-am-pho to foreign trade, assisted by the U. S. Minister, have at last, according to a telegram to the Asahi, moved the Korean Government, which a few days ago decided to obtain the Imperial sanction to the opening of the port through the Minister for Foreign Affairs without submitting the matter to the State Council. The Imperial sanction, the telegram continues, was obtained on Nov. 17, and the opening of the port was about to be announced to the Foreign Ministers when the Imperial Court instructed the Minister for Foreign Affairs to refrain from making the announcement. This hitch is ascribed to the opposition of the Russian Minister, who is said to have influenced the Minister for the Imperial Household. A later telegram states that Yi Hs-yung, the Minister for Foreign Affairs who recommended the opening of Yong-am-pho to the Throne, is regarded as a traitor by the pro-Russian party. The Russian Minister is actively opposing the opening of Yong-am-pho, and prevented the departure of the Russian warships at Chemulpo when they were about to leave. The course the Korean Government will take in this new difficulty is a matter of keen speculation.

The National Review.

The contents of The National Review for October are varied enough to appeal to a wide circle of readers. Two articles deal with the prevailing topic of debate—Mr Chamberlain's fiscal proposals.—Mr Matthew J. Kenny, ex-M.P., dealing with it from the Irish Nationalist's point of view. Army men will find the 'Recommendations of the War Commissioners' arranged in brief and handy form, most useful. 'The New Naval Training, engineers may learn something of 'The Practical Aspects of the Moxo-Evil' in Mr F. B. Bohr's article, the clergy will be divided over the Hon. Mrs. Edward Stansbury's views on 'On Teaching the Old Testament to Children,' while University men will enjoy Sir Leslie Stephen's 'Early Impressions' of Cambridge. Mr T. Cyprian Williams discusses a vexed question in 'The Power of Cues to show rules,' and Mr Justice Webb, K.C., discusses on 'The Genuine Text of Shakespeare,' while Mr Richard Bell, M.P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, is responsible for a thoughtful article on 'The Reign of Labour,' which places the side of the working man very fairly before the reader. Mr Bell appeals for a stronger representation of the labour party in Parliament. Mr A. Maurice Low's letter on 'American Affairs' is well written, and is sufficient to keep the average reader in current of important happenings on the American continent. It will be seen from this that the National Review for all, and is quite in the front rank of English magazines.

Children when Teething.

HAVE more or less diarrhoea, which cannot be checked effectively, as the cause cannot be removed; but the diarrhoea can and should be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, and an occasional dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. During the summer months children are subject to disorders of the bowels and should receive the most careful attention. As soon as any looseness of the bowels is noticed, Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy should be given. Get a little to-day; it may save a life. TELEGRAMS.[CHINA MAIL'S EXCLUSIVE SERVICE.]
SUPPLIED BY ROUTER, via HONKAY.BRITISH PARLIAMENTARIANS IN PARIS.*CORDIAL HOSPITALITY TENDERED.

LONDON, November 27.

The party of British Members of the House of Commons, Peers, and Colonial Agents General, and several ladies, who are on a visit to France, were most hospitably entertained on reaching Paris.

They were given a reception at the Elysée, and President Emile Loubet cordially conversed with the various members.

Subsequently the party visited Parliament House and were shown over the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate.

[Elsewhere another Router telegram announces that the visit was undertaken under the auspices of the Commercial Committee of the House of Commons.—Ed. C.M.]

A ROSEBURY PARADOX.MR CHAMBERLAIN'S PECULIAR DISCOVERY.

LONDON, November 27.

Lord Rosebery, in addressing a meeting on Great Britain's fiscal policy, declared that Mr Chamberlain had discovered a disease which did not exist, and had proposed a remedy which was worse than the disease.

The Engineer's Ball.

The members of the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders have decided to have a ball on December 18 in the City Hall, for which arrangements are well under way. An able Committee is in charge of the matter, and they can be depended upon to have all arrangements concluded before the event is timed to commence. It is now about four years since a ball was given by the Engineers and Shipbuilders, and as previous balls given by the Institute have been very enjoyable, there is no reason to believe that this one will prove less popular than its predecessors.

A New Review.

When the first issue of The Independent Review appeared upon our desk we supposed that the appearance of a new political organisation in England was responsible, as usual, for a new magazine. Our surmise was incorrect. For though the Editorial Council admits that the present interesting state of the political situation is responsible for the bulkiness of the first issue, it is evident that the Review is not quite a party weapon, although the first twenty-seven pages are devoted to 'A Plea for a Programme' which savours of the Liberalism of the present Liberal Party. The best article is certainly that of Mr Hector Macpherson on 'The Evolution of Scotland.' 'A German's Appeal to the English' (in German and English) is probably Professor Mommsen's last contribution to an English Review. Mr James Bryce, M.P., who was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs at a most interesting period in the history of the Balkan States, is one of the highest and most reliable authorities on the politics of the Near East. His contribution is an attack upon the Prime Minister and a criticism of the present Ministry for their attitude towards the Bulgarian question. Mr Bryce, who was a prominent opponent of the Boer War, favours British intervention in the Near East, without, apparently, counting the cost of such intervention. He considers it the duty of Great Britain (though the representative of a Scottish constituency, Mr Bryce uses the word 'England' when he means 'Great Britain') to attempt the disentangling of the difficulties which Austria and Russia, as the parties most closely affected outside Turkey, are trying to overcome. Mr Bryce's closing appeal is as follows:—'Be the result of her efforts what it may, England at least is bound to do her best to serve the interests of humanity—interests which seem to be much less regarded in our days than they were forty years ago. Let England at least clear herself from the disgrace of having stood idly by, while, in the East, are being perpetrated, a country devastated, a people blotted out.' Mr Augustine Birrell writes in his pleasant and attractive way on Elementary Education, and the other papers are:—Canon Barrett on 'Social Reform,' Mr Edwin Cannon on 'Colonial Preference,' Mr Hugh Bell on 'Protection and the Steel Trade,' Dr Sneyd on 'The Obligation of the Credo,' and Mr G. Lewis Dickinson on 'Ecclesiasticism.' There is the first chapter of a story—'Mr Burden'—by Hilary Bell, and several reviews. Whether The Independent Review is required or not it is for the reading public to say. There is always room for a good newspaper or a good magazine, but they must be good, and they are all the better if they have individuality and distinctive features of real merit. We cannot say that The Independent Review equals its very rivals, but the publisher—Mr T. Fisher—Edwin London, may find a community for his magazine. The cost is two shillings and sixpence.
